By Alma Flor Ada

Atheneum Books for Young Readers, United States, 2004. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Leslie Tryon (illustrator). Reprint ed.. 249 x 218 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Hidden Forest has a new resident. Little Red Hen and her seven little chicks have moved into a cottage and plan to grow a bountiful crop of corn in the nearby field. The problem is that none of the Red Hen's neighbors are willing to help with the hard work. Not I, says the dog, the goose, and the lazy cat. So Goldilocks, who has heard about the new arrivals from her friend Little Red Riding Hood, comes up with a neighborly idea: Why don't all the residents of Hidden Forest chip in and work on the garden? Better yet, why not make it a surprise? Of course there are a couple of residents who might not be so cooperative. Will Wolfy Lupus and his cousin Fer O Cious hatch a new plot of their own? Following the highly acclaimed Dear Peter Rabbit and Yours Truly, Goldilocks, Alma Flor Ada and Leslie Tryon offer young readers another peek into the world of their favorite storybook characters, revealed through the charming letters...

The Little Red Hen is an American fable first collected by Mary Mapes Dodge in St. Nicholas Magazine in 1874. The story is meant to teach children the importance of hard work and personal initiative. A hen living on a farm finds some wheat and decides to make bread with it. She asks the other farmyard animals for help planting it, but they refuse. The hen then harvests and mills the wheat into flour before baking it into bread; at each stage she again asks the animals for help and they refuse. Finally This wasn't the little red hen story I was expecting. Had to return it and this dealer was most gracious. Read more. Helpful. Report abuse. Little Red Hen found a grain of wheat. "Who will plant this?" she asked. "Not I," said the cat. "Not I," said the goose. "Not I," said the rat. "Then I will," said Little Red Hen. So she took the wheat to the mill, where it was ground. Then she carried the flour home. "Who will make me some bread with this flour?" she asked. "I love this story! In today's day and age, many individuals have an air of entitlement about them, like they have rights to everything. Some people have become very demanding, and then are hurt and angry when others do not give in to their requests. Without working towards a joint effort in creating and committing to peer or familial relationships or strengthening family bonds by working together in the challenges of daily life as a unit, I believe there should be no freebies.
